

WORKERS: SWEATING FOR THE OLYMPICS

AN NUJ/TUC AND LABOUR BEHIND THE LABEL EVENT

Speakers:

Lilis Mahmudah

NEC member, Serikat Pekerja Nasional, Textile and Garment Trade Union, Indonesia

Michelle Stanistreet

Deputy General Secretary, NUJ

Sharon Sukhram

Playfair 2012 Campaign Co-ordinator, TUC

Followed by Q&As and interviews with Lilis Mahmudah (through an interpreter)

Date: Tuesday 8 June, 2010

Time: 18.00-20.30

Venue: Room 4, TUC, Congress House,
Great Russell Street, London WC1B 3LS

RSVP with full name to Pat Brown at pbrown@tuc.org.uk

The Olympics is a multi-million dollar industry, yet most workers producing sportswear and Olympic souvenirs for sale on our high streets continue to be paid poverty wages and work in degrading conditions. Playfair found 12-year-old child workers, adults earning 14p an hour, and employees made to work up to 15 hours a day, seven days a week, producing Olympic merchandise.

But it shouldn't be this way. It's time for the organisers of the London Games, the sportswear industry and the International Olympic Committee to take responsibility for the working conditions in the global supply chains producing these goods.

As journalists we have an obligation to delve beyond the PR spin, revealing the reality for workers employed in Olympic supply chains. Acting together, we have the power to bring about change and demand that London 2012 is the first ethical Olympics - providing Decent Work and dignity for all.

This event for journalists will allow you to find out more about the issues facing the millions of mainly female workers employed in supply chains producing sportswear and Olympic merchandise.

Playfair 2012 is supported by:

Anti-Slavery International, ATL, ASLEF, BECTU, Community, CWU, EIS, GMB, ITGLWF, NASUWT, NUJ, NUS, NUT, PCS, People and Planet, Prospect, PFA, STUC, UCATT, UNISON, Unite and War on Want.

BE INSPIRED TO DEMAND THAT LONDON 2012
DELIVERS DECENT WORK FOR ALL
www.playfair2012.org