

FOREWORD

Dear Teacher

This interactive teaching resource has been developed by Anti-Slavery International, the Association of Teachers and Lecturers (ATL), NASUWT, the National Union of Teachers (NUT) and the Trades Union Congress (TUC), working in close collaboration with a group of teacher members with an interest in international development.

I hope that Fair's Fair enables you to deepen pupil's understanding of our interconnection through global trade and world sporting events like the Olympics, World Cup and Commonwealth Games. The pack provides the opportunity to investigate how this relates to human rights in the workplace, trade unions and global justice. These core themes enable the resources to be used at any time, not only when a major world sporting event is taking place.

The pack encourages pupils to act on their increased knowledge and understanding, and provides practical ways in which they can use their collective voice to influence the decision makers and systems that trap millions of people in low-paid, low-skilled jobs in the supply chains that span the globe. By encouraging them to be active global citizens, this will help pupils contribute to creating a fairer world, and support these workers in their own struggles to have their human rights respected.

Please let us know how useful these teaching materials are by completing the form inside, or the online survey.

Brendan Barber
General Secretary
Trades Union Congress

Producing athletic footwear, Indonesia

Garment worker, Sri Lanka

Garment workers campaigning for better pay and conditions, Bangladesh

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Steering Group

Michaela Alfred-Kamara, Anti-Slavery International
Pam Collins, NUT
Samidha Garg, NUT
Amy Norrish, NUT
Joseph O'Reilly, ATL
Sharon Sukhram, Playfair 2012 Campaign Coordinator, TUC
Tanya Warlock, TUC
Chris Weavers, NASUWT

Development Group

Abdul Choudhury
Michelle Codrington-Rogers
Pam Collins
Ruth Duncan
Maureen Dyer
Claire Hancock
Linda Jagger
Rebecca Johnson
Karen Mears
Sharon Sukhram
Tanya Warlock
Angus Willson
Marianne Zoega

Researched by Michaela Alfred-Kamara and Sharon Sukhram

Compiled by Angus Willson

Written and edited by Taahra Ghazi

Designed by Frances Herrod

DVD production Pupils from The Cherwell School (Oxford) and Oaks Parks High School (Essex). Edited and authored by Living Lens